

Welcome ,the minimum square in Ireland, I think people do not earn much, they give an example in such meat factories,people are forced to do overtime by the heads of companies, but this is not the case in companies where there is a minimum place for respect for employees. people are used to work above the norm. I think that if the rate would be higher, the attitude towards us would also change.

Best regards

