

Good day,

In regard to the national minimum wage I believe it should be in line with a liveable wage updated often to ensure minimum wage workers have some form of quality of life.

Secondly and am unsure if it in the commissions remit is the student stipend for such things and PhD research. I myself am in receipt of 13,000 per annum. Though reasonable it is impossible to move out or live on this wage. I am fortunate to still have access to my parental home and public transport outside of the Dublin region but if I didn't I would have had a very hard task in securing a loan for the PhD's period
