

We would come under Middle Class status. What with car/house insurance going up every year. Property tax, Electricity, health insurance. Bin collections and lots more extras that the government have introduced I don't think 10 27? an hour is appropriate. We live in rural where there are No services provided to get anywhere and if there is u still have to travel to get to them. Hence the car and all extras. On that we are just surviving and nothing for any treats. Can't come of health insurance now as we have got too old and have struggled to keep it in the recession. Also make it worthwhile to work then there mightn't be as many wanting to get social and work the system. Cut that. Give more to the people who get up and struggle to survive by working on a low income. Also people who have high income live high and want high. But then u have to take into consideration what part of the country they live and prices 4 living in that area is it feasible to survive. Cut social. There's no contribution there. They have as much as a working person but need lesson on how to manage money and cut back
